

Blockchain 201

MARCH 2019

This article originally appeared in the March 2019 issue of the National Coal Transportation Association's Coal Transporter. Any opinions in this article are not those of Winston & Strawn or its clients. The opinions in this article are the authors' opinions only.

Winston & Strawn Attorney Jason Lewis co-authored "Blockchain 201," featured in the March 2019 issue of Coal Transporter. A lot has happened in the world of blockchain since the first article in this series, "Blockchain 101," published in July 2018. In this article, they focus on the work currently afoot to harness DLT for greater transparency, efficiency, and security in energy and commodities trading, shipping and supply chains. Additionally, they offer some conclusions as to what may lie in store for 2019 and beyond.

View article

1 Min Read

Related Locations

Washington, DC

Related Topics

Disruptive Technology

Blockchain

Related Capabilities

Securities, M&A & Corporate Governance Litigation

Cryptocurrencies, Digital Assets & Blockchain Technology

Related Regions

North America

Related Professionals

Jason Lewis