

BNAmericas Webinar: What's Next for Brazil

NOVEMBER 9, 2022

Winston & Strawn Partner Rodrigo Carvalho participated in BNAmericas' webinar addressing Brazil's presidential election. The webinar discussed what the governing playbook will potentially look like and what sectors may benefit from its policies.

Rodrigo, Winston's São Paulo office managing partner and the former legal head of investment banking at Bank of America in Brazil, brings unique insight to the discussion. He addressed questions about sector impact with the change in government (which sectors may benefit, and which may not), how the election may impact inflation and interest rates in Brazil, how the government may address the privatization trend in Brazil, and more.

Watch the webinar recording here.

Key Takeaways

- The election may bring tax incentives and a focus on ESG investments for several sectors and industries, including renewables.
- The president's practical approach to international relations will likely lead to a "global repositioning of Brazil," and improved international trade relations with various countries.

WEBINAR

Discussion Panel

Rogerio Jelmayer
BNamericas Brazil Bureau chief

Rodrigo Carvalho
Brazil Managing Partner
WINSTON & STRAWN LLP

Luciano Rostagno
Chief Latin America Strategist - Treasury
MIZUHO

Mario Lima
Senior Brazil Analyst
MEDLEY ADVISORS

bnamericas

1 Min Read

Related Locations

- New York
- São Paulo

Related Capabilities

- Capital Markets
- Mergers & Acquisitions
- Private Equity
- Finance
- Environmental, Social & Governance (ESG)
- Financial Services
- Energy

Related Regions

- Latin America & Caribbean

Related Professionals

Rodrigo Carvalho