Winston Sponsors Oilfield Water Markets Conference 2024

MAY 8, 2024 - MAY 9, 2024

Winston & Strawn was a proud sponsor of the Fourth Annual Oilfield Water Markets conference in Irving, Texas, from May 8-9, 2024. The conference brought together business leaders from E&P companies, oilfield water midstream, water service companies, information providers, investors, regulators, landowners, and other stakeholders in the oilfield water marketplace to discuss trends that drive value.

Partner Sam Peca moderated the panel “Got Produced Water Where & When You Need It? Navigating Recycling Constraints.”

KEY TAKEAWAYS

- Constraints on recycling produced water in the Permian Basin puts a strain on operators and the basin itself.
- Increased coordination among participants in the water business, including midstream and producers, could improve efficiencies.
- Consolidation in the Permian, as well as increased pressure to address collective action issues, may drive increased coordination.

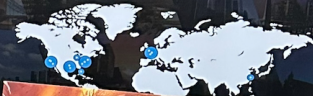

Partner Scott Delaney was also in attendance.
