

Louis Jenull Joins Winston & Strawn in Dallas

SEPTEMBER 30, 2024

Winston & Strawn announced the addition of Louis Jenull to the Dallas office, where he joined as a partner in the Transactions Department and the Tax Practice.

Louis advises clients in all phases of federal income taxation with an emphasis on a range of tax credits, renewable energy, oil and gas, mergers and acquisitions, environmental, safety and health issues, real estate lending and development, and the structuring and formation of complex partnerships with tax-exempt, U.S. taxable, and foreign investors. In the energy industry, Louis focuses on oil and gas transactions, master limited partnerships (including formation, public debt and equity offerings, and operation), asset acquisitions and dispositions, services, pipelines, refineries and other downstream transactions, and joint ventures.

“Louis’ vast experience within the renewable energy and infrastructure sectors, specifically related to tax-advantaged investments structures, further advances our abilities to guide clients who are navigating this evolving landscape,” said Dallas Office Managing Partner Bryan Goolsby in the press release announcing his arrival. “His insights and involvement with the tax aspects, policy issues, and related incentives of the Inflation Reduction Act will be crucial, as the Dallas region remains very active in renewable energy transactions.”

“Winston’s distinguished reputation in both the tax and energy areas aligns directly with my practice, and I am excited to join Winston’s bench of renowned attorneys in Dallas,” said Louis.
