

Daniel Stabile Discusses Shift in SEC Approach with Cryptonews

MARCH 31, 2025

Winston & Strawn partner Daniel Stabile was quoted in a Cryptonews article discussing the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) ending its legal proceedings against Ripple.

The resolution is expected to encourage regulatory clarity and bolster confidence among digital asset exchanges that operated under uncertain legal conditions. Daniel noted that the SEC's decision to end the case signals a broader shift toward allowing legislative and regulatory processes to unfold, rather than regulating through enforcement.

Read the full article.

Less Than 1 Min Read

Related Topics

Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC)

Related Capabilities

Cryptocurrencies, Digital Assets & Blockchain Technology

Related Professionals

Daniel T. Stabile