

CLIENT ALERT

Courtney Love Settles Lawsuit for $430,000 Regarding Tweets

APRIL 4, 2011

Musician Courtney Love reportedly settled a defamation lawsuit with fashion designer Dawn Simorangkir regarding comments made by Love on her Twitter account. The lawsuit is a result of Love's tweets on her Twitter account, including one claiming that Simorangkir was a "drug-pushing prostitute with a history of assault and battery" and another stating, "@sswipe nasty lying hosebag thief." In response to the lawsuit, Love argued that she was expressing her opinions and beliefs, and that Simorangkir's business did not suffer as the result of the dispute between her and Love. However, Love agreed to settle the case with Simorangkir for $430,000.

TIP: Advertisers should encourage their endorsers and employees to exercise caution when posting to social media Web sites.

Less Than 1 Min Read

Related Locations

Chicago

Los Angeles

New York

Paris

San Francisco

Washington, DC

Related Topics

Twitter

Courtney Love

Related Capabilities

Advertising Litigation

Intellectual Property

Patent Litigation

Trademark Litigation, Prosecution & Brand Protection

Litigation/Trials

Privacy & Data Security

Related Professionals

Ronald Y. Rothstein

Jennifer Golinveaux

Becky Troutman

Michael Elkin