

Jonathan Judkowitz's Move to Winston's Houston Office Earns Media Attention

DECEMBER 2, 2014

The addition of Winston & Strawn partner Jonathan Judkowitz to the firm's Houston office was featured in various publications, including Bloomberg, the American Lawyer, Law360, and the Houston Business Journal. With an emphasis on finance transactions involving companies in the oil and gas and energy-related industries, Mr. Judkowitz joins the firm's corporate transactions group.

Mr. Judkowitz was impressed with Winston & Strawn's platform, and the firm's growth plan was a major selling point in his decision to join.

"They're building a full-service law firm here," Mr. Judkowitz told Law360. "The commitment to continue to expand the office here in Houston is what I find so appealing about it."

Representing borrowers and lenders, he will help strengthen the firm's focus on energy finance.

"Finance is a key offering for our existing private equity clients, and adding someone with Jonathan's talent and expertise is a significant advantage for our clients," Chris Ferazzi, a partner in the Houston office, said.

1 Min Read

Related Locations

Houston

Related Topics

Oil & Gas

Project Finance

Private Equity

Corporate Lending

Houston Transactional Attorneys

Related Capabilities

Debt Finance

Private Equity

Project Finance

Related Regions

North America

Related Professionals

Chris Ferazzi