

Winston Hosts Multi-Discipline Management of Technology IP Training Program

JULY 13, 2015 - JULY 17, 2015

Winston & Strawn hosted the Multi-Discipline Management of Technology (MMOT) Intellectual Property training program in our Washington, D.C. office July 13-17, 2015. The MMOT program was sponsored by Cornerstone IP Foundation of Taiwan with the support of the Ministry of Economic Affairs (MOEA) of Taiwan. The program entailed a three-month initial training in Taiwan followed by a two-month intensive training in the United States, covering the law and policy of intellectual property, the practices of technology transfer, and other business and marketing issues concerning technology management.

The following Winston partners presented at the seminar:

- John Rosenthal discussed “Process and Strategy of Discovery in U.S. Litigation”;
- Chuck Klein, chair of the complex commercial litigation practice, presented “Pharmaceutical Patent Litigation: ANDA Cases and Biologics.”

1 Min Read

Related Locations

Washington, DC

Related Capabilities

Patent Litigation

ITC – Section 337

Commercial Litigation & Disputes

Antitrust/Competition

International Arbitration

eDiscovery & Information Governance

Medical Devices

Related Regions

North America

Asia

Related Professionals

John Rosenthal

Charles B. Klein