

David Greenspan Speaks on The Economics of Collusion

JULY 16, 2013

Winston & Strawn litigation partner David Greenspan, based in the firm's New York office, moderated a panel titled "The Economics of Collusion," presented by the ABA Section of Antitrust Law: Cartel and Criminal Practice and Economics Committee on July 16, 2013.

The Cartel and Criminal Practice and Economics Committees led a discussion with the authors of The Economics of Collusion, a book examining why collusion is profitable, how it is implemented, and how it can be detected; this was provided from an economic perspective. The presentation covered the economics of cartel behavior and how those economic principles apply and can be utilized in cartel cases.

1 Min Read

Related Locations

New York

Related Capabilities

Antitrust/Competition

Related Professionals

Dave Greenspan